Increases of $79,476.47 over the preceding two years were given the military, and thereby our militia was enabled to reap the benefits of Federal appropriation under the Dick bill. Criminal expenses increased $140,409.82, largely because of the more liberal allowances made to witnesses, jurors, county and district officials. Pension appropriations were cials. A careful investigation into the needs of the departments and institutions convinces the committee that necessary increases must be made which will amount in the agreegate to $275,000 or $300,-000 (and much more could be profitably expended) for the fiscal year beginning March 1, 1910. A large part of this is for the care of the unfortunate insane in our pres ant overcrowded hospitals and for relieving the congestion and providing more facilities by removing the epileptic insane into new quarters, which must be provided. As intimated earlier in this report, the committee does not believe the present and estimated sources of revenue under existing law will yield sufficient revenue to provide the money needed for all of the many worthy objects which in its judgment do not now receive more than is absolutely essential.

Sources of Revenue. Hoping to be spared the necessity the splendid progress the State is now making, the committee does not believe it expedient or proper, if indeed contemplated by the resolution, that of framing a bill which would retard a bill ready for intelligent action could be presented at the opening of the session, but the committee does believe that there are many sources lege education. from which more revenue can be provided without working any hardship, and has devoted much work to the preparation of bills, which, in its judgment, will provide much of the reve nue needed, if promptly and favorably considered by the General Assembly and enacted into law. These bills proride for the supervision and equalizaof assessments, revision of the aws taxing liquor, express and insurfor the better collection of franchise and registration fees, will be presentin the near future. Other objects they were engaged in the systematic also come in isr attention.
